R.E.A.C.H. Programming...

Through collaborations with like-minded organizations, REACH will offer three primary initiatives:

- Can We Talk? Open dialogue sessions with local teens about the pressures of being a teen (premarital sex, drugs, violence, dating, etc.), offered in collaboration with health care professionals, clergy, and community leaders.

- Career Connections: In collaboration with local schools will expose students to various career/vocational options as well as internship opportunities within businesses. Resume building and employment opportunities after successful completion will also be explored.

- Health Talk Series: Offered quarterly on various topics related to physical, psychological, social and economic health, will give youth an opportunity to ask questions, offer suggestions for health topics as well as to receive information about health issues they may not have considered.
